Entered at the Post Office at Decatur, Illinois as second class mail matter. The Wagon Factory.

Wo are more than glad to know that the proposition to erect a wagon factory in Decatur is beginning to assume shape, and that the prospects for its success are very good indeed. There can be no doubt that the venture would be a profitable one, and the benefits it would confor on Decatur can hardly be estimated. Those interested in the matter are pushing it along as fast as possible, and every good citizen will bid them Godspeed.

Whisky is Blond. WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 .- On November I, last year, there were in round numbers 08,000,000 gallons of distilled spirits held in bond on which the tax would fall due during the next twelve menths ending November, 1881. It also appears that since November 1 of last year about 10,000, -500 of the 80,000,000 gallons have been withdrawn from bond several months in advance of the flater on which the bonded period would expire, and hence the amount of spirits which, under the operations of the law must be withdrawn during the next twelve months, has been reduced to about 28,600,000 gallens. Deputy Commissioner of Internal Revenue Rogers thicks that owing to the fact that most of these spirits must be withdrawn before the first of next July the total Internal revenue receipts will reach $125,000,000 for the curtent fiscal year.

Repudiating an Interview. with the late Boss Mahone which was printed in the New York Times attracted much attention here, Friday, particularly among the friends of Mahone. He was reported as saying that during the late campaign he received no recognition from President Arthur, and not worse than no aid, from the administration. Maliono's friends here have communicated with him on the subject, and he deales having made such statements. the effect that Mr. O. A. Carpenter, the scensed in the Zura Burns case, having appearance at the January term of court, has not gone away, nor does he intend to leave. He is at his grain office to-day, attending to business as usual, and there is no disposition among the people to do him violence. The people are satisfied with the decision of Judge Lacy. Mr. Burns, father of Zura, left for St. Elmo to-day. He expressed himself as satisfied with the termination of the examination-JUDGE LAUY'S OPINION.

The decision of Judge Lacy in holding O. A. Carpenter to bail, which was rendered at Lincoln on Saturday, will be read with very general interest. The following is the full text of the opinion:

This case is one of the most extraordinary that it has ever been my duty to examine into or try as a judicial officer, both on account of the enormity of the crime and the great mystery that surrounds it.
It has already become notorious from one end of the Union to the other. The one end of the Union to the other. The fact that a young women some 22 years of age, in good health, and in the prime of hie and vigor, has been cruelly and in-humanly butchered, first being knocked on the head with a bludgeon, and then having her throat cut from our to car for no apparent justification, cause or offcuse on her part is quite sufficient to mid has oused the just indignation of all peorime. The inhuman crime took place in the midst of a people who are among the most orderly and law-abiding in the state. To add to the cinterest which surrounds it, the evidence fails to show any motive unless it be an attempt to cover up a se-cial crime and to shield from exposure the guilty author of the deceased girl's crief misfortune. To still add to the ab-sorbing interest, the defendant is a man who had always, prior to the time of this occurrence, borne an exceptionally good character and is the father of a respected family. This fact should not however, in the least excuse or pulliate the crime, if it is once proven in accordance with the forms and requirements of the law. It can only be considered in the defendant's favor when taken into account with all the circumstantial evidence in the The hearing of the case has occupied number of witnesses have been examined for and against the defendant, and the fullest labitude consistent with the rule of law has been given, it being the earnest desire to arrive at the truth. The preparation, management, and conduct of the case shows that the people of the county of Logan, earnestly desiring the punishment of the guilty, have made every effort in their power to discover the evidence necessary to convict the guilty atructive. At the Sabbath school the party. In this endeavor the people have been most efficiently aided by thouble attorneys for the prosecution and by the efficient services of the officers of the law in this county. as the requirements and rules of law as to the degree of proof necessary in cases where it is wholly circumstantial, is that the defendant's guilt must be shown be-yond a reasonable doubt. The law prosumes the defendant innocent until he proven guilty by evidence so plain and conclusive that no reasonable doubt reconclusive that he cannot be presumed. The detendant would not be obliged to show who murthere is, the defendant should be acquit-ted. The power of Roman Catholicism crushed like a mighty grant against the people, with but one man monster. He spoke of Luther as the mightiest among the mighty and told of the high pinnecle he attained, starting from poor parents, whose desire was to have him follow the study of law, but how his course was shaped into a servant of God. In 1505 he became a monk in the Roman Catholic church, its faith being that man was acceptable to God in proportion to the penance he did for his sins. In 1508 he was appointed professor of what he thought the truth, and the mighty struggle for the liberty of the soul. This was one of the first causes of his reformation, and his trying to get out of the depths of superstition which bound his soul. He told of mation of which he was the author Luther's journey to Rome in 1510 or and founder, was the subject of 1512, and of his exalted omnion of that city, and his devotion to the Ro man Catholic church. He found the pope engaged in riotous living, and left Rome disgusted with the religion and its gorgeousness. He continued to preach, attacking the hypoery of the religion, until the enperor was appealed to. His many wonderful doeds seem like romance. Rev. A.W. Walter, pastor of the English Lutheran church, spoke next, his subject being "The Character of the Great Reformer, and his Works." He said the apostles had been chosen from the lower or middle classes, as was Luther, which made it manifest that he was prompted by God and not by man. He was born November 10th, 1483, and was taken to St. Peter's church a few days after, in Eis. leben, and consecrated to God-When six months old his parents moved from Eisleben to Mansfield, and as soon as young Martin was old enough, he received the doctrines of

God. In his early school days he laid the foundation, upon which was afterward erected a great building. At school he was always at the head of his class, but he often had to beg bread on the street for his subsist ence. He longed for an education, and nucle remarkable progress in his studies. In 1503 he discovered a bi-

Rev. J. P. Dimmit, paster of the First M. E. church, handled the subject, "In What Did the Reformation Consist?" He did not think it necessary to enter into the deeds of his life, but he said Martin Luther's reformation was not from political or literary principles, but simply a religious one. Rev. Gee. B. Vosburg, pastor of the Baptist church, spoke on "A Martin Luther to the Present Time, and the Benefits of the Reformation.' He said that the mantle of charity said that through four hundred years of light we could see one of nature's noblemen. Not a polished man, but Pinkerton of the Christian church, the a true and rugged one, Martin Luther rises pre-eminently above all characters who moved about him in the 16th century. The whole world would have been different without Luther, or the world had been made different with him. This rugged man, whose whole life was a battle from the cradle to the grave, spoke bravely and learlessly. He frowned on the sword, and by his -magnetic power to rise and bid defiance to the mighty | maintained the supremacy of the civil power over the military, and averted the imbusing of the hands of his people in fraternal blood. To no life of that age are we so indebted as to that of Martin Luther.

Rev. Walter then thanked the pas for and trustees of the Baptist church for the use of their house during the services, also the different pastors the congregation, the chair, and, the organist, for their participation in the exercises.

The choir then sang "Daughter of philosophy in the Wittemburg University, where he began to unfold zion," and Rev. Trueblood invoked a heardistic which concluded the a benediction, which concluded the ceremonies.
